

Tiny Love's Dual Motion Developmental Mobile: A New Way to Spark Baby's Creativity & Imagination

Dorel Juvenile, a segment of Dorel Industries (TSX: DII.B, DII.A), and the world's largest juvenile products manufacturer, today announced that Tiny LoveTM, a leading international baby product brand, has broken the age old mold of traditional mobiles. Ingeniously deigned to captivate baby's sense of imagination and object recognition, the Dual Motion Developmental Mobile sparks a whole world of soothing, creativity and play, right in baby's crib.

The Dual Motion Mobile features two distinct motions: Soothing and Developmental. The soothing motion spins adorable animals in a horizontal circle. The developmental motion adds a fun twist by flipping the animals vertically in addition to the horizontal spin. This unique motion creates an amusing Hide & Seek play between the characters and the baby, as they appear and disappear, while developing baby's sense of object permanence; a central part of baby's development.

"The Dual Motion Developmental Mobile is another example of how Tiny Love strives to create innovative & developmental elements within its toy designs," say Shira Baum, VP of Marketing. "As a leading developer in the mobile category, we believe it is our obligation to continually find innovative and fun ways to give parents smart solutions while helping baby's development."

In addition to its visual attributes, the Dual Motion Developmental Mobile also comes with a versatile piano box. For newborns, the piano box plays 15 different melodies and white noise to soothe baby to sleep. When used at night, the music box's stars and moon night-light creates a relaxing bedtime aura for baby to dream. Once baby has reached the one year mark, the music box transitions to a fun piano keyboard for baby to explore shapes and sounds while developing motor skills.

Tiny Love's Dual Motion Developmental Mobile is designed for babies and toddlers. It is available in stores worldwide starting Spring 2015.
